Computersysteme GmbH

Marco Hildebrandt

So that your company can concentrate even more successfully on its corporate goals, you profit from our almost 20 years`IT expertise and our experience as service provider.

We want to win you as a partner who makes use of our services from advice through planning up to support. Our IT spectrum in the field of technical service comprises:

1. Network project engineering
2. IT services
3. EDP training
4. Internet Hosting

Our task as IT consultant is moreover to support you with advice.

- EDP consulting
- Leasing possibilities
- Support agreements
- Technical hotline

Network planning and construction

Our network experts inform you about future-oriented solutions: manufacturer-neutral and taking account of your marginal conditions. Your requirements on the project are defined and form the basis of the technical network concept and a cost estimate

- Structured building cabling
- Server configuration
 - Internet and company integration by routers
 - Server-based e-mail and FAX solutions
 - Backup, RAID and security concepts
 - Integration existing networks / mainframe computers
- Choice of the network, software and hardware components
- Integration of service concepts
 - Material management and system solutions
 - Software distribution or user-specific parameterization

IT services

Networks function optimally only if they are well supported. Under optimum support we understand fast and competent help for removing faults in the network procedure as well as technical hotline.

- Expansion, optimization and documentation of your network
- Analysis / removal of hardware and software conflicts / faults
- Remote maintenance / backup service
- Technical hotline and support agreement
- Instruction of responsible persons
- Training your employees

EDP training

Due to the increasing complexity of user programs and the rapid development in the IT industry, it is more important than ever to employ qualified persons. We train you and your employees on site or in our training premises. Our lecturers are technically and didactically trained.

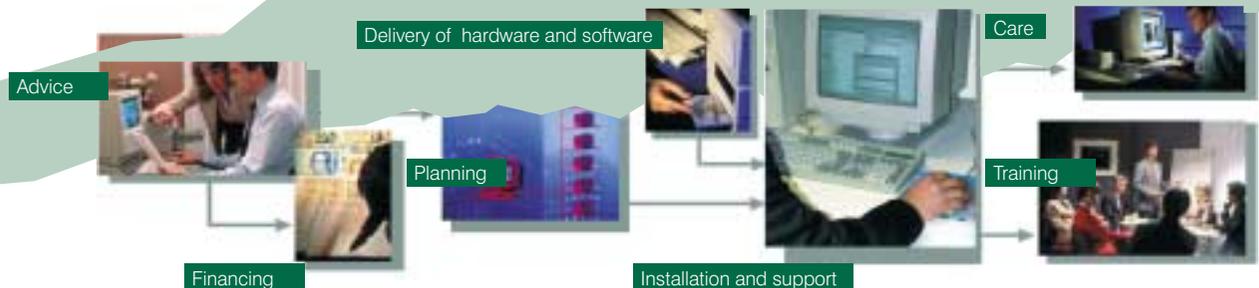

- You can choose between:
- Regular training at set times in our premises or
 - Individual company training courses adapted with regard to dates and contents to your training needs.

Internet hosting

Apart for the technical interfacing of your EDP we undertake the Web hosting for your company:

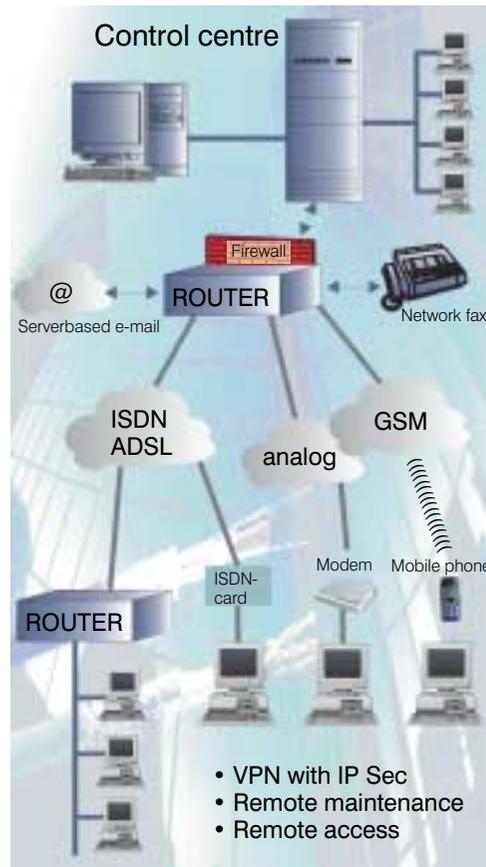

- Design of your Internet pages with shop link, multimedial elements
- Search engine entries and banner production
- Reservation, registration and activation of your domains
- Maintenance and updating of your Internet pages

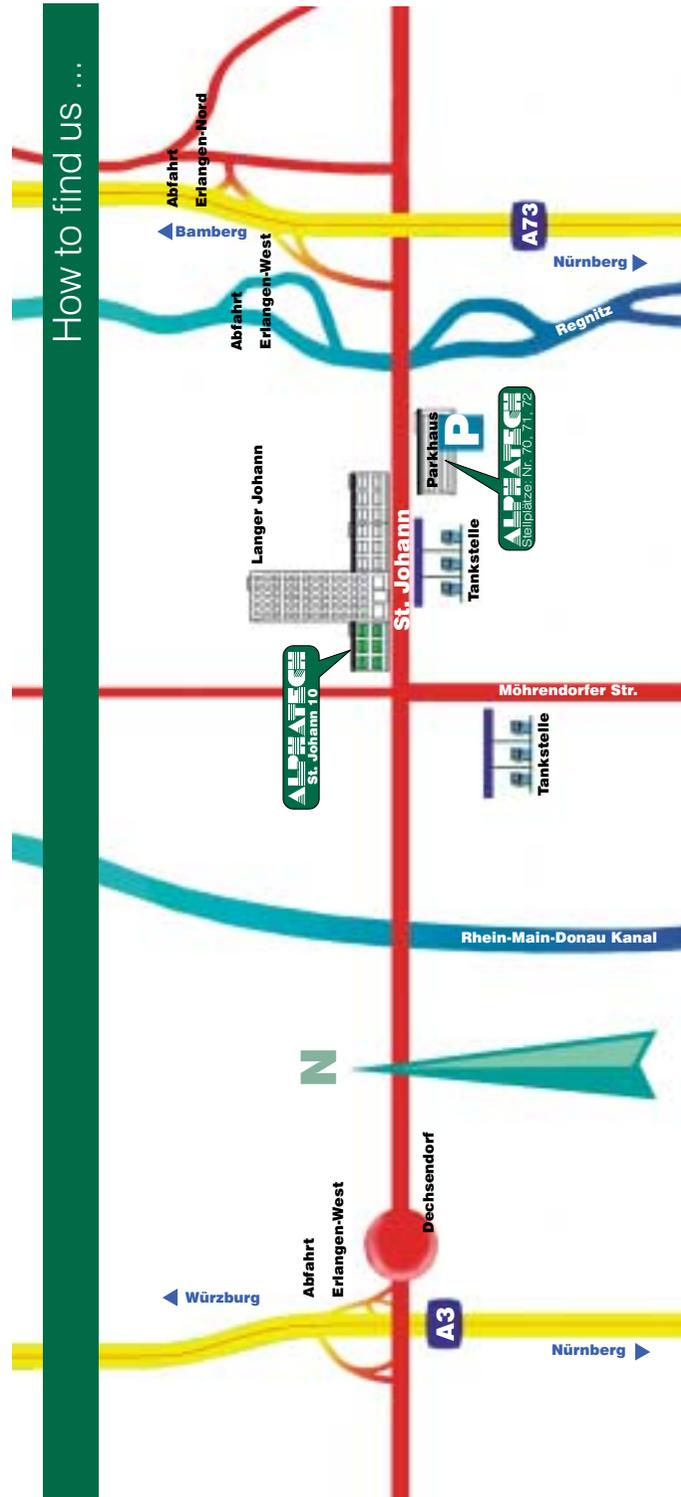

Efficient exchange of information is a decisive factor for corporate success. Smooth communication, effective workflows and opening up new markets worldwide secure you even today valuable competitive advantages for the future.

ALPHATECH® GmbH develops IT solutions for your company of tomorrow.
